Doctors who are affected by this change who are already registered with Medicare Australia must supply evidence of their residency status when they enrolled in medical school to allow Medicare Australia to confirm section 19AB does not apply and to update its records.

Doctors who are not subject to section 19AB will be subject to section 19AA of the Health Insurance Act 1973 and must be a recognised general practitioner, specialist or consultant physician for Medicare purposes, or be in an approved program placement under section 3GA of the Health Insurance Act 1973 before Medicare benefits can be paid for their services.

Doctors who obtained their primary medical qualification in an accredited medical school in New Zealand, or who obtained their primary medical qualification in Australia and were a New Zealand citizen or permanent resident should call 132 150 (call charges may apply) and ask to speak to a Provider Registration service officer in their state or territory to determine if they are subject to sections 19AA and/or 19AB before any Medicare services are provided.

Access to Medicare benefits

A provider number uniquely identifies the medical practitioner and the location from which a service is rendered.

You cannot transfer a provider number for one address to another address as this has an adverse impact on Medicare claims and prescriptions issued from the previous address.

For Medicare claiming purposes, the Health Insurance Regulations provide that a valid account or receipt must contain the medical practitioner's name and either:

- the address of the place of practice from which the service was provided; or
- the provider number for the place of practice where the service was provided.

Payment of claims could be delayed or disallowed where it is not possible from account details to identify the service as one which qualifies for Medicare benefits, or that the person who provided the service is a registered medical practitioner at the place of practice.

Claims for Medicare benefits should only be made while working in a private capacity and where no other government funding is received for these services.

We will advise you of your provider number for the location.

Do not presume that the allocation of a provider number means Medicare benefits are payable for services you provide. Some Medicare provider numbers will only be valid for referring or requesting services for your patients.

Sections 19AA and 19AB

Eligibility to access Medicare benefits is determined by the Health Insurance Act 1973 and related Regulations. In particular, the requirements of sections 19AA and 19AB of the Health Insurance Act 1973 must be satisfied before access to Medicare benefits can be granted. The Health Insurance Act 1973 can be found at www.comlaw.gov.au More information can be found on the Department of Health and Ageing's website at www.health.gov.au

Other organisations such as the Department of Health and Ageing, Rural Workforce Agencies, General Practice Education and Training Limited, specialist medical colleges, Royal Australian College of General Practitioners and Australian College of Rural and Remote Medicine may be involved in approving your access to Medicare benefits.

You are subject to section 19AB if:

- you are an overseas trained doctor
- you are a foreign graduate of an accredited medical school.

You can access your record through HPOS (Health Professional Online Services) on Medicare Australia's website www.medicareaustralia.gov.au

Australian citizen or permanent resident – Section 19AA of the Health Insurance Act 1973

From 1 November 1996 all Australian medical graduates and overseas trained doctors who are or who become Australian citizens or permanent residents must obtain a recognised post-graduate qualification or be undertaking an approved program placement and registered in that program by Medicare Australia under Section 3GA of the Health Insurance Act 1973 before they can provide a service that attracts a Medicare benefit.

Obtaining a recognised post-graduate qualification means that Medicare Australia has recognised you as a:

- specialist, or
- consultant physician, or
- general practitioner (defined in the Health Insurance Act 1973 as a medical practitioner who is a Fellow of either the Royal Australian College of General Practitioners or the Australian College of Rural and Remote Medicine or included on the Vocational Register).

Information about recognition as a specialist, consultant physician or general practitioner is available on our website.

If you are an overseas trained doctor or a foreign graduate of an accredited medical school you may also need a Section 19AB exemption (refer to Section 19AB information on this sheet) in addition to being in an approved program placement, to attract Medicare benefits.

Approved 3GA programs

If you are in an approved program under Section 3GA of the Health Insurance Act 1973 you must complete an application form for a provider number for the location at which your placement has been approved.

The relevant organisation must also advise Medicare Australia of your approved placement.

Medicare Australia cannot register an approved 3GA program placement from a date earlier than the date the placement advice is received.

Approved programs and the organisations that can approve a placement are:

Overseas trained doctors and foreign graduates of an accredited medical school - Section 19AB of the Health Insurance Act 1973

If you are an overseas trained doctor or a foreign graduate of an accredited medical school and you were first registered with an Australian medical registration board on or after 1 January 1997 then you are not able to attract Medicare benefits for your services for a minimum period of ten years.

If you applied to the Australian Medical Council (AMC) before 1 January 1997 and you were eligible to sit the exam then you may not be subject to the restrictions in Section 19AB. You must supply Medicare Australia with a copy of the AMC letter acknowledging receipt of your application and eligibility to sit the exam.

An overseas trained doctor is a medical practitioner whose primary medical qualification was not obtained from an Australian medical school located in Australia.

A foreign graduate of an accredited medical school is a doctor who obtained their primary medical qualification from an accredited medical school and who was not a permanent resident or citizen of Australia or New Zealand when they enrolled in an accredited medical school in Australia or New Zealand.

Medicare benefits will be payable for services you provide if you have a Section 19AB exemption approved by the Minister for Health and Ageing through delegates in the Department of Health and Ageing.

Section 19AB exemptions are time and location specific, cannot be backdated and take effect from the date specified. The Department of Health and Ageing will notify you of the approved 19AB exemption dates and location(s).

If you have a Section 19AB exemption and are a temporary resident then your exemption allows you to satisfy the requirements of Section 19AA (see page 2).

If you become an Australian permanent resident or citizen then you will need a Section 19AB exemption and the requirements of Section 19AA become mandatory. This means you must be recognised by Medicare Australia as a specialist, consultant physician or general practitioner, or be in an approved program placement before you can attract Medicare benefits for your services.

Additional information about Section 19AB can be found on the Department of Health and Ageing's website www.health.gov.au or by emailing the Department of Health and Ageing at 19AB@health.gov.au
